

The 2021 Concise North Sea Map

with 2021 map launch planned for

The UK offshore industry watchdog The Oil and Gas Authority announced that up to three billion barrels of oil could be unlocked from about 350 previously unexploited/unsanctioned discoveries. Previously considered as marginal field developments, these 'pools' – most of which have been viewed too small to develop - represent very significant opportunities for operators.

This new 2021 edition Concise North Sea Map will again be fully updated to include all the new fields brought on stream over the last 24 months. Featuring all fields currently producing, fields depleted and undergoing decommissioning and locations of new named discoveries, plus the new marginal fields and 'pools' and show a relationship to the existing operational fixed and floating platforms and existing subsea tie-backs. The map will also highlight all new licence block awards, including the UK 32nd round, Faroes 5th round awards, Norway APA 2020 awards..

With over 30+ year experience in the publication and release of concise offshore oil and gas activity maps, many of which have now become industry standard reference sources, we feel this new map will be equally sought after.

The North Sea Map is just one of a series of fresh, topical and informative, user-friendly wall maps, again aimed at the decision makers within: project instigators – including NOC's and Operators, the offshore supply chain, investors and financiers and further associated industries, informing the status of offshore oil, gas and marine related projects and future activity.

As in the past, all maps published will be launched at related major industry events, ensuring direct distribution to a targeted audience. History, and experience, has proven – freely distributed project reference material is eagerly sought after and received.

To target your company at these decision makers and optimise response from this focused audience, please give serious consideration to advertise within our oil and gas mapping products.

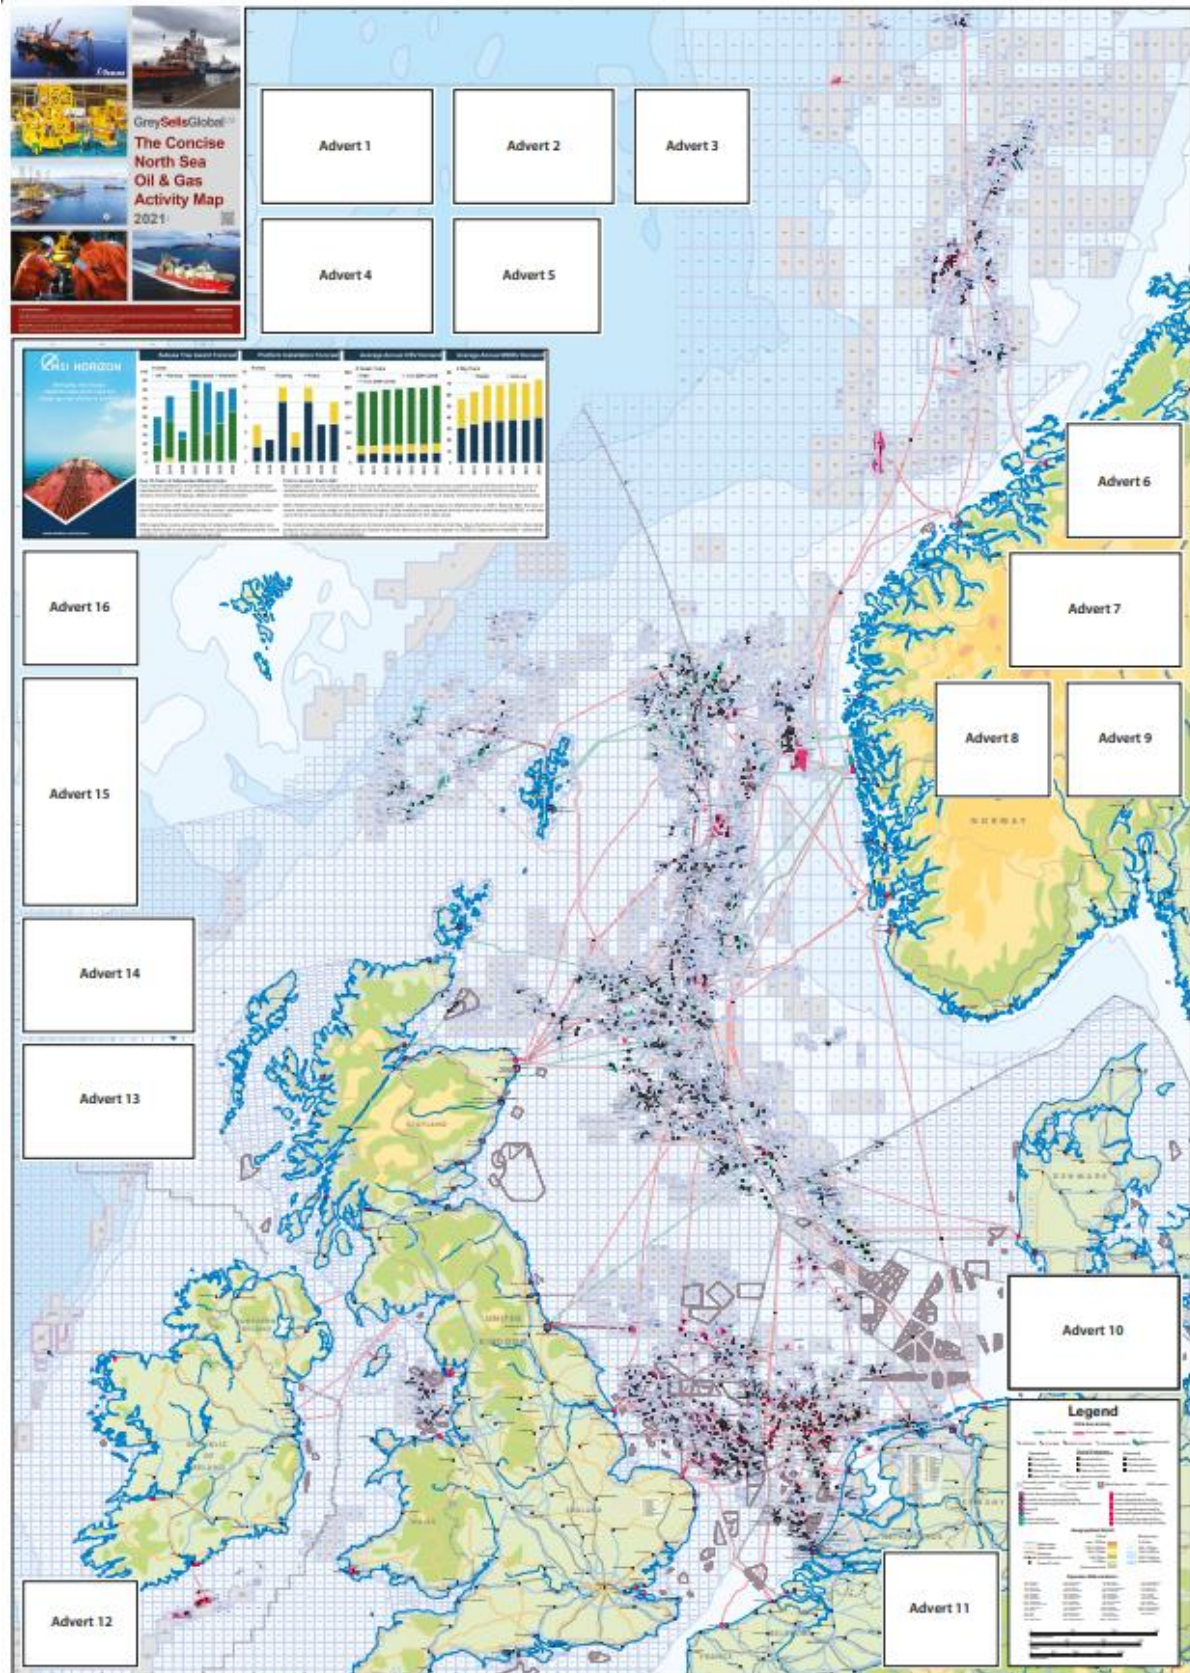

We hope this new map is of serious interest for inclusion within your companies 2021 media plan.
