

The Magazine of Choice for Marine & Underwater Robotics Professionals

www.rovplanet.com

NEW

The “ROV Planet” Magazine has long been enthusiastic to create their first ever ROV/AUV Planet Poster featuring many of the technologies and equipment used to perform both the exciting and the routine offshore marine robotic related work that industry professionals perform every day.

This presentation introduces the poster layout (work in progress), content, marketing opportunities and advertising rates.

The launch of this, the first poster, in what will become a series of topical images, will cover the Offshore Energy Sector, covering Oil and Gas Field Development, Subsea Production, Floating Wind Energy and Fixed and Floating Production Systems with many of the supportive infrastructure technologies for Underwater Survey, Installation and Lift, In Field Lines, Power and Transportation Lines, Marine Construction and Support Services.

Unique for project planning and training, and now more recently for webinar visuals and presentations to visibly feature equipment, roles and tasks, this poster will highlight a selection of the essential equipment being used and some of the essential support vessels required.

There will be a print run of 2500 copies of this poster, 1500 of them distributed via the “ROV Planet” Magazine and for their advertisers, plus we will have additional copies for clients by request and available for sale as rolled and laminated versions for clients wishing to frame them.

Within the poster, limited advertising will be available. Please see the following layout slide.

This unique poster will be an excellent medium from which to promote your companies’ services, facilities and equipment to the global underwater market place
